

The client system initiates a RESTful call through JavaScript to connect with the RESTful API, which further connects to Hibernate. A framework is provided by Hibernate for mapping an object-oriented domain model to a relational database by which data is retrieved from the MySQL database. This process is a model-view-controller architecture framework (Spring MVC) built on a Java servlet container on an Apache Tomcat server.

